

Here's a free tool for valuing your startup

 By Tom Jackson

3 Feb 2017

Nigerian company CompexAfrica has launched a free online business valuation tool for startup owners looking to get an idea of how much equity they should be giving away in return for investment.

Image by 123RF

Disrupt Africa reported in August on the launch of CompexAfrica, an online marketplace for the buying and selling of businesses that allows users to list their businesses and matches them with potential buyers using brokers and business advisory companies.

It has now launched a free business valuation tool after several months of development and testing, which clearly and concisely walks users through every step of the valuation process and enables them to work out a decent estimate within a few minutes.

The tool is designed to create an estimated market value for a company based upon a diverse set of attributes.

"It is important for business owners to have an idea about what their business could be worth while talking to a business broker or prospective buyer. The tool uses the Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) method by taking the expected future cash flows and "discounts" them back to the present day, to give a well-argued valuation," said Ifeoma Uddoh, chief operating officer (COO) of CompexAfrica.

“Users should ensure they use actual financial data, and they should compare value given with other valuation methods.”

ABOUT TOM JACKSON

Co-founder @DisruptAfrica. Tech and business journalist in Africa. Passionate about the vibrant tech startups scene in Africa, Tom can usually be found sniffing out the continent's most exciting new companies and entrepreneurs, funding rounds and any other developments within the growing ecosystem.

- Founders Factory incubator launches in Joburg to back African startups - 11 Oct 2018
- Kenyan, SA startups winners of MT African innovation challenge - 10 Sep 2018
- Applications opened for SA female entrepreneur challenge - 16 Aug 2018
- University of Pretoria launches new tech business incubator - 16 Aug 2018
- UCT's Bertha Centre dishes out $50k startup grant funding - 10 Aug 2018

View my profile and articles...

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>