CareerJunction recently launched their new job app for both Android and iOS devices. In its first month since the launch, the app has already been installed by thousands of South African job seekers who are actively using the app to apply for jobs on the go.

“The world is changing and for us, it’s important to stay ahead of the trends. Job apps are not new to the Google Play or App Stores, however, for us, this was an opportunity to enhance the job search experience and tailor it to complement mobile user behaviour, not just copy the existing job search process,” says Paul Byrne, MD at CareerJunction.

CareerJunction’s job app is perfect for job seekers who are constantly on the go, allowing them to search for jobs from anywhere and apply quickly with the click of a button. What’s more, they can save jobs for later viewing and be notified of new jobs instantly on their phones.

“We’ve managed to simplify the process of finding a job, without compromising on the quality of applications,” continues Byrne.

You can now download the CareerJunction app free from the Google Play Store or App Store.
