With online SEO training available, where in the world to start?

I am doing my research into SEO and e-marketing training and fortunately most providers offer online courses. However, one is always unsure of the credibility of these online courses, and how much weight they hold in the South African market. Quirk offers an online course in e-marketing and SEO, and I know their credibility is high, My question is, has anybody heard of, enrolled in, or have an opinion on the SEO course offered by the 'SEO college' (not based in South Africa)?

Any advice would be greatly appreciated!
