

Nomad refreshes website for 2015

Nomad Africa Magazine has refreshed its website for 2015. It has been more than three years since its last redesign, during which time the Web has changed a lot, so it started over from scratch. The result is a crisp, unified and fast-performance design that showcases the best it has to offer and employs current best practices...

click to enlarge

The core focus and purpose of Nomad Africa Magazine is to dispel negative views and misconceptions regarding Africa through its positive features highlighting the diversity and rich opportunities available. It aims to attract investments and tourists to the continent, which can generate billions for its countries and assist developing countries to protect their heritage and address many socio-economic restraints and challenges.

For more information, go to the website.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>