

Sound at the 46664

Very poor sound production for such a big event. Who the hell did the sound at 46664?

The sound at 46664 was very badly done. This is such a big event and I assume it took a long time to plan. The way in which the Techy's handled it was appalling. Almost every band was battling to be heard for a good few minutes. Peter Gabriel's case was the worst. Sad for such a big artist to be let down by poor a poor production. I am in the Sound industry myself, as a small player I am always battling secure such big jobs, yet its not the first time that our "big and experienced" competitors completely mess up a big production. Maybe its high time that marketers and event managers realize that its not about the size of a company its about the expertise that seemingly are in abundance with the major players.

Forum created by Mandla Lekota

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>