

Facebook introduces Mentions for Android

Facebook has announced the addition of Mentions for Android users. It has been testing Mentions for Android with a handful of public figures around the world and is looking forward to seeing how Mentions helps public figures on Android connect more deeply with their fans on Facebook. Since it introduced Facebook Mentions for iOS, thousands of public figures have used the app to connect and interact with millions of fans. With the addition of Live, many musicians, athletes, actors, journalists and other influencers have used Mentions to share live video with their fans.
