

Spinnaker gains new alliance

Spinnaker has, after an extended period of research, forged an alliance with an international E-Learning and communications developer to bring an industry leading E-Learning, communication and training platform to South Africa and Africa.

This system is the result of dedicated work by experienced E-Learning developers around the world. These geniuses listened to the market and set out to design an affordable package, based directly on the needs of organisations, trainers and communications practitioners. Spinnaker has added its rich experience in the creation of multi-media to this E-Learning platform to create value offerings and tailor-made solutions for the South African and African markets.
