

AU appoints official publisher

The African Union (formerly the Organisation of African Unity) has appointed Millenium Communications, a consortium of South African and Kenyan business interests, as their official publisher. The company therefore also has the exclusive right to publish the African Union Business Directory, a comprehensive guide to the AU, outlining its aims and objectives, together with country profiles and government body listings, to be printed in English, French and Arabic.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>