

Marc Lottering's Comedy Roadshow

Put down your remote and pick up a ticket to a very different comedy show. Every once in a while, something magical presents itself in the world of comedy: Marc Lottering's Comedy Roadshow at the Grand Arena, GrandWest Casino on Saturday, 7 December, 2013, presents a collection of Lottering's favourite comedians and a one-hour show with the magical international sensation that is The Boy with Tape on his Face.

Through simple, clever and charming humour aimed at satisfying that inner comedy hunger we all share, The Boy with Tape on his Face has created one of the most accessible and enjoyable shows ever seen.

Enter New Zealand's greatest artistic export, The Boy has won awards across the world and was the top-selling show at the Edinburgh Festival this year and now permanently tours the world. His act at the GrandWest Casino is identical to his award-winning Edinburgh Festival performance.

Stand-up comedy with no talking

Imagine mime with noise, stand-up comedy with no talking or drama with no acting. This Boy has to be seen to be believed. From Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth to thousands of folk around the world, The Boy with Tape of his Face is a favourite to all.

So what does he do exactly? Well, simply mentioning any aspect of this diverse show would be a disservice - the less you know the more you will enjoy this show. The Boy with Tape on his Face is a character with universal appeal. Delightful and hilarious, he transcends the barriers of language and culture. The Chinese Festival market is opening to him, with bookings that will keep him busy for years.

You'll laugh, you'll scream and ultimately end up like The Boy himself - lost for words.

Marc Lottering's Comedy Roadshow includes Marc Lottering himself as the host of the show, together with the country's leading ventriloquist Conrad Koch and Chester Missing. Ndumiso Lindi, KG and Irshaad Mohamed complete the line-up.

Tickets cost R150 and there are generous discounts with group bookings of more than 10. Tickets can be booked through Computicket. Marc Lottering's Comedy Roadshow is family friendly. Parental guidance is recommended.
