D&AD 2008 design juries announced

LONDON: Members of seven design juries for the D&AD Awards 2008 were announced yesterday, Monday, 29 October 2007. Due to its size, Graphic Design will once again be split into three juries, headed by Tony Brook of Spin, Aziz Kami of Kantar Group, and Adrian Shaughnessy of ShaughnessyWorks.

"Having been asked by D&AD to be a foreman in the Graphic Design section of this year's Annual, my excitement is mingled with a sense of responsibility,' said Brook, creative director at Spin. "Sitting in judgment of so many hopes is heavy stuff. Like a cub scout, I promise to do my best."

The other juries announced yesterday include:

- Book Design: foreman Irma Boom
- Branding: foreman Michael Johnson, johnson banks
- Magazine and Newspaper Design: foreman Terry Jones, i-D Magazine
- Packaging Design: foreman Phil Carter, Carter Tomlin Wong
- Typography: foreman Vince Frost, Frost Design
- Writing for Design: foreman Howard Fletcher

Other juries will be announced in the coming days. The entry deadline is 16 January 2008. Entries before 14 November will receive a 10% discount. Go to www.dandad.org for more information.
