

Pentawards call for entries

PARIS, FRANCE / BARCELONA, SPAIN: Entries are now open for Pentawards 2013 concept. Enter now.

The founders of the Pentawards, Jean Jacques and Brigitte Evrard, think that creativity and the sharing of knowledge are the driving forces of development; but also that packaging must be constantly reinvented and provide intelligent solutions in order to improve our life and to show more respect for our planet.

They are aware that all kinds of ideas are born every year, but most of them remain confidential and do not benefit humanity.

That is why they decided to create the Pentawards Concept.

Following on the success of the first edition, the Pentawards are this year opening up further to packaging concepts to give world visibility to new ideas, creative projects, and innovative inventions that have not yet been marketed.

Held in parallel with the "Classic Pentawards," this "Pentawards Concept" competition is open to designers, design agencies, producers, brand owners but also students who want to become known throughout the world for their creativity in packaging.

How?

It is very easy to take part in the Pentawards Concept because everything is done online on www.pentawards.org.
