

Entries open for Legal Journalist of the Year

Entries are now open for the Webber Wentzel Legal Journalist of the Year award for any journalist reporting on an issue with a legal slant in the print, online or broadcast media in South Africa between 1 September 2009 and 31 August 2010. There are two R50 000 prizes; one for print (including online) and one for broadcast. Entries close at 5pm on 13 October 2010. This year Judge Albie Sachs joins long serving competition judges Professor Tawana Kupe and Franz Kruger. Download the entry form here.
