

James Sedgwick Distillery appoints manager

The James Sedgewick Distillery in Wellington has promoted Jeff Green as its new distillery manager. Green was previously process manager and distiller at the distillery since 2009. Green takes over from Andy Watts who will now take responsibility for the whisky portfolio of Distell as the global head of whisky intrinsic for the Centre of Excellence.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>