

New key accounts manager at Axis Communications

Kirk Stephenson has been appointed key accounts manager at Axis Communications based in their Johannesburg office. Stephenson will manage the company's Silver and Gold partners within the West and Central Africa region. Stephenson has more than 20 years' experience in system integration and distribution, supported by a technically-certified background in electronics, surveillance systems and sales management.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>