Belated 100th anniversary celebration

The ADC 101st Annual Awards ceremony takes place Wednesday evening, 18 May at Gotham Hall. In addition to honoring this year's Cube winners from around the world, the ceremony will also feature a belated celebration of ADC's historic 100th anniversary, which was postponed last year due to the pandemic, and include important members and winners from throughout ADC history.

The event will also feature a special presentation of the prestigious Manship Medallion, the original ADC competition award created by famed sculptor Paul Manship who made the Prometheus statue in Rockefeller Center, to 10 highly accomplished members of the creative community who have had significant and positive impact on ADC through the years.

Creative Week 2022 concludes on Friday evening, 20 May, with The One Show 2022 awards ceremony at Cipriani Wall Street. The night will include a special tribute to industry legend Tony Gulisano, The One Club's global chief growth officer who died suddenly on 25 March.

To maintain the connection to the global creative communication forged over the past two years with virtual ceremonies, this year's One Show will include online and live streaming components.

There are also preliminary plans to make The One Show awards ceremony a global celebration, with events hosted by top agencies and media in a half-dozen cities around the world to be announced shortly.

Creative Week 2022

Creative Week 2022 will include interesting sessions hosted by One Club corporate members, a member social gathering, a New York City TypeWalk through different neighborhoods on Thursday hosted by the Type Directors Club, and more to be announced shortly.

“The pandemic didn't stop us from running our awards programs and celebrating the industry's best work, as we quickly transitioned to virtual judging, awards ceremonies and festivals,” said Kevin Swanepoel, CEO, The One Club. “We hope this year to bring the creative community back together in person to celebrate the best work in the world, and will continue to monitor conditions as Creative Week approaches.”
