A project for LWUA managed by Strategy& - the global strategy consulting team at PwC. Lebalelo Water User Association composed of both the commercial mining sector and the South African Department of Water and Sanitation.

The Challenge

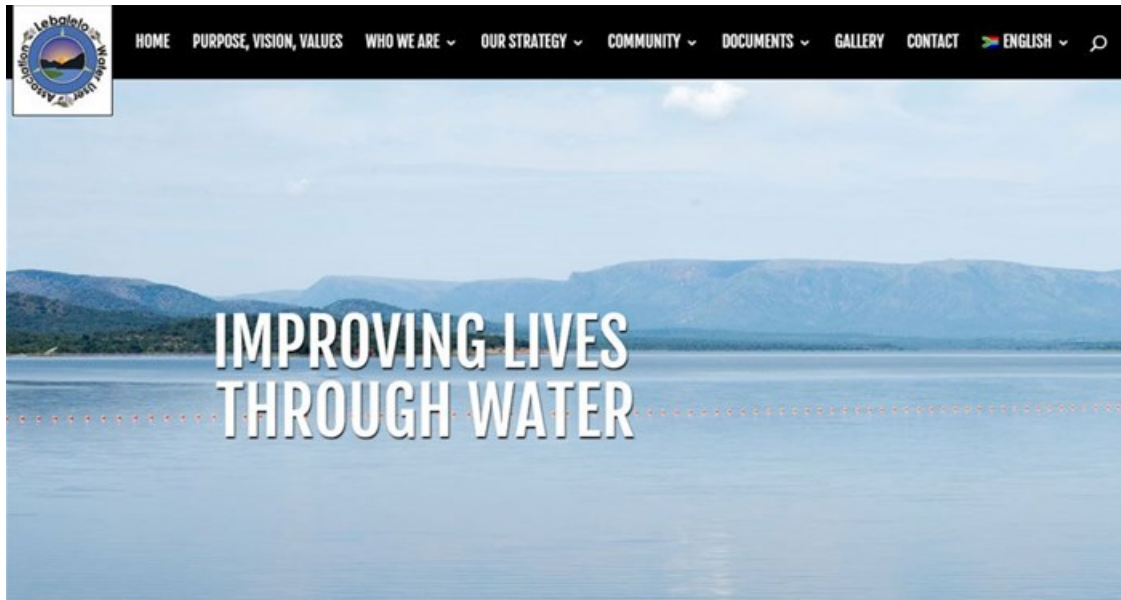

Creating a unique South African themed multi-language website for Lebalelo Water User Association water user association that serves as a content cornerstone for the community and both the private and public sector.

The need was to create an image-rich visually stunning information/brochure business website. The website had to be scalable and easy to maintain and build on. The website also had to support the Sepedi language as an optional language for local viewers.

The Solution

After meeting with the client, it was clear that a custom designed theme should be built to accommodate and structure all the sections and levels of content. With a strong focus on the community and the infrastructure the websites feature a lot of photographic content to help tell the story.

Great people, great community. Have a look at the Lebalelo Water User Association website for more information www.lebalelo.co.za
