Moneyweb, South Africa's premier online financial news source, and leading online job board, CareerJunction, have joined forces to introduce a new premium jobs portal in the country.

This portal will focus solely on executive and high-level recruitment in the financial services sector.

Moneyweb Jobs will offer recruiters access to the exclusive Moneyweb community. Effective Measure data shows that Moneyweb receives 250 000 unique visitors a month. A total 25% of this audience is CEOs, CFOs, directors or serve in senior management position.

Another 50% are professionals, middle management and business owners. 48% of visitors earn more than R50 000 a month, while 88% have a tertiary education.

Moneyweb Jobs bring together high-level financial sector job seekers and employers in a familiar and trusted environment. The portal will also only accept job opportunities with a remuneration that exceeds R50 000 per month.

"The Moneyweb community represents the upper echelon of the corporate sector in the country. Recruiters will therefore have access to an excellent pool of specialist and executive talent. Moneyweb Jobs will also give our community access to the top career opportunities in the country," says Ryk van Niekerk, Managing Editor of Moneyweb.

Kris Jarzebowski, CEO of CareerJunction added: "We have already received positive feedback from companies as this is a first for us and a first in the field of online recruiting.

We hope to see a unification of job seekers and recruiters in this specialised environment.

There is much to be excited about for both recruiters and high-level job seekers in the financial industry sector as we test this premium jobs spot."
