

GIBB Holdings appoints two non-executive directors

Engineering consultancy, GIBB Holdings has appointed Nana Magomola and Brown Ondego as the two new non-executive members of its board of directors. Magomola obtained an LLB degree from the University of Witwatersrand and a BSc. degree from the City University of New York and has worked at the Industrial Development Corporation (IDC), Transnet and Reebok South Africa.

Ondego has over 40 years' experience in logistics, transport, trade economics and infrastructure development and has managed and led the Kenya Ports Authority, Mackenzie Maritime and most recently the Rift Valley Railways 2300km network in East Africa.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>