

Sydney Mbhele steps up as CEO for Sanlam brand division

NEWSWATCH: Sydney Mbhele, formerly the marketing and communications officer for the Liberty Group, will be chief executive of brand for financial services group Sanlam with effect from 1 April 2019.

Mbhele in conversation with Bizcommunity at Design Indaba 2018.

As a member of the Sanlam group executive committee, Mbhele's portfolio will include the group's brand, communications and sustainability functions as well as the Sanlam Foundation, reports IOL.

In a different article, IOL adds:

“ The Black Management Forum (BMF) says the appointment of Sydney Mbhele as the CEO of Sanlam's Brand Division is a step in the right direction for ensuring transformation at a senior managerial level. ”

Reaction on Twitter has been similarly positive:

“ Congratulations to my brother @Nhlasyd on this huge appointment. Siyaziqhenya ngawe mfanakithi! Onwards & Upwards BT!!! pic.twitter.com/FjrMwCtGHj— Andile Khumalo (@Andile_Khumalo) January 16, 2019 ”

Mbhele also confirmed his commitment to developing the industry with the following tweet:

“ Indeed, that remains our mantle. For we can never celebrate only individual success, but collective progress. Through @MentorABoyChild where I am a co-founder, we have also started the journey.— Nhlanhla Sydney Mbhele (@Nhlasyd) January 16, 2019 ”
