The partnership will offer customer service such as sales, installation services, subscription payment and purchase accessories and many more.

Patricia Kiconco, head of Customer Experience at MultiChoice Uganda told reporters that the company is committed to invest in local partnerships.

“As of now, MultiChoice Uganda has three branches spread across the country with two in Kampala, and another in Mbarara. This is assurance to our customers in the city an even deeper-rooted and widespread presence, in synergy with this historic partnership with PEP Uganda Stores,” said Kiconco.

MultiChoice Uganda and PEP Stores Uganda are on a mission to provide responsive pay TV services, high quality service and innovative technology offered at the stores.
